Courses with Special Delivery Types

Some courses allow students to attend on-site or remotely with a level of flexibility on how they would like to attend each week. In the next example, students who register in this course will have the option of attending on-site or remotely via Zoom.

At the beginning of the semester, your instructor will provide a flexible schedule on UR Courses when they will be in class. There will be a maximum capacity of 50% in the classroom at one time. Students who are not in the classroom will attend the live lecture via Zoom. If students are not comfortable attending class in person, they will have the option to attend via Zoom for the entire semester.

In the example above, the instructor is located in Regina and students registered in the Regina campus course will have the option to attend some lectures in person or opt to attend all lectures remotely via Zoom. Prince Albert (Northern) and Saskatoon students registered in the S10 and S50 sections, previously video conference courses, will attend the scheduled lectures remotely via Zoom.

Courses Delivered Remotely

If a course is delivered remotely, it will be designated as Remote Learning Delivery Spec.

Remote Learning Delivery Spec - This designates that the course is delivered primarily via Zoom with scheduled meeting days and times.

In the following example, the class section and lab sections have scheduled components on the days and time indicated, but they are offered remotely via Zoom. You will be required to attend the lecture and lab via Zoom on the designated days and times.
