

Your Guide to Understanding the Spring/Summer and Fall 2022 Class Schedule

The following information will help you interpret the Spring/Summer and Fall 2022 class schedule. Please note that the following examples are snapshots of what you will see in the Visual Schedule Builder system. If you are using UR Self-Service to search for courses, you will see the same information as in the examples below but in a different format.

Retired after Spring/Summer 2022

RLDS – Remote Learning Delivery Special

WEB - Web-delivered class

New for Fall 2022

Remote – Remote classes are virtual classes that are offered on specific days and times. Faculty and students gather together virtually to teach and learn in Zoom classrooms.

Online – (formerly WEB) Online courses are formally developed to be delivered in a primarily asynchronous format. They are typically delivered such that students are able to manage them on their own schedule rather than attend class on a specific date/time. However, they may have a limited number of real-time virtual meetings.

Courses Delivered Remotely

If a course is being delivered remotely, it will be designated with Remote – synchronous or Remote Learning Delivery Spec.

Remote – (New for Fall 2022) Remote classes are virtual classes that are offered on specific days and times. Faculty and students gather together virtually to teach and learn in Zoom classrooms.

Remote Learning Delivery Spec (Spring/Summer only) – This designates that the course is delivered primarily via Zoom with scheduled meeting days and times. This delivery code is being retired after the Spring/Summer term.

In the following examples, the class section and lab sections have scheduled components on the days and time indicated, but they are offered remotely. You will attend the lecture and the lab via Zoom on the designated days and times.

Your Guide to Understanding the Spring/Summer and Fall 2022 Class Schedule

Online (Web) Delivered Courses (WEB for Spring/Summer; ONLINE for Fall)

Some courses have undergone a formal online delivery development process that includes enhancements designed to support instruction and learning in an online environment.

These supports include UR Courses and many other multi-media enhancements. These courses are designated as Web-delivered classes in the Spring/Summer term and Online for the Fall term. As seen in the example below, Most Web-delivered/Online courses will not have scheduled meeting times, but some do, which will be shown in the class section selected.

In the examples below, the course is being offered online. Please note that some online courses have mandatory meetings which usually occur via Zoom.

The delivery code of WEB (Web-delivered class) is being retired at the end of the Spring/Summer term.
